Disability Across the Developmental Life Span

For the Rehabilitation Counselor

Julie Smart, PhD

DUE NOV. 2011

This is the only text to provide comprehensive coverage of human growth and development, a requirement mandated by the Council of Rehabilitation Education (CORE) for a master's degree in rehabilitation counseling and for Licensed Professional Counselor certification. Written by an eminent leader in the field of disability studies, this volume reflects a significant change in perceptions of individuals with disabilities from being defined foremost by their disability to being viewed as normal individuals with a disability. It provides an understanding of traditional human growth and development that will enhance the practice of disability counseling by enabling an understanding of a client's childhood and prior life experiences.

The book begins with a focus on developmental theories and tasks, followed by a discussion of cultural and ethical considerations in human development. It considers the major theories of human development as they relate to people with and without disabilities, and career theories with a focus on the concept of choice. The book addresses specific developmental stages including a description of developmental tasks, risks, disability applications, specific disabilities common to a particular stage, and cultural and ethical issues, all supported by case examples.

Key Features:

- Fulfills the required CORE mandated course on human growth and development and the disability experience
- Addresses disability across the life span in relation to developmental stages
- Authored by a highly respected expert in disability studies

The Professional Practice of Rehabilitation Counseling

Dennis R. Maki, PhD, CRC, NCC, Vilia Tarvydas, PhD, LMHC, CRC

Based on the Handbook of Rehabilitation Counseling (Rigger/Maki 2004), this new volume has been completely revised and updated to accommodate the overarching changes that have recently occurred in the field. It reflects the new, accepted definition of rehabilitation counseling as a specialization within the field of counseling, and demonstrates how the knowledge, skills and attitudes of rehabilitation counseling complement those of mental health counseling.

Key Features:

- Places rehabilitation counseling firmly within the profession of counseling
- Imparts the essence of the transformative rehabilitation practice
- Compatible with both CORE and CACREP standards for basic professional identity content

Psychosocial Aspects of Disability

Insider Perspectives and Strategies for Counselors

Irmo Marini, PhD, Noreen M. Glover-Graf, PhD, CRC, Michael Millington, PhD

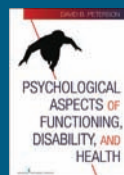

This textbook explores the psychosocial implications of living and working with a disabling condition, with a focus on the sociological and societal perceptions toward disability. Providing an "insider's perspective" on counseling, this book serves as an ideal reading for students pursuing rehabilitation counseling.

Key Features:

- Includes narratives of persons living with various disabilities, such as blindness, hearing impairments, spinal cord injuries, muscular dystrophy, and polio
- Presents case studies prepared in a structured format to include psychological and sociological research
- Includes glossary of terms as well as critical thinking questions
