FIGURE 12.2 Logic model for advanced practice nursing role development, implementation, and evaluation. See color version at http://www.springerpub.com/kleinpell

Source: Bryant-Lukosius (2009).

Importantly, within APN-related research and evaluation, measures should be related to APN role activities. Data for objective measures are commonly obtained through the use of secondary data (e.g., administrative or medical record data), clinical assessment, or through patient-reported outcome measures (PROMs). The evaluation plan should be rigorous and strategic.